RBC Wealth Management is pleased to announce that Chris Shafer has been named to the 2015 Financial Times Top 400 Advisors list in the US. The advisors on this list represent an elite group at national, independent and regional broker-dealers and were selected from nearly 1,500 advisors who met the qualifications. It is impressive to note that this year, the average FT 400 advisor manages over $1.6 billion in assets.

Please join us in congratulating Chris on this noteworthy honor.

In 2015, the Financial Times 400 Award was based on information gathered regarding 1,500 financial advisors. Of the financial advisors considered, 26% received this award. The Financial Times 400 Award is based on the following criteria: The individual is credentialed as a FINRA registered representative, assets under management, revenue produced for the firm, regulatory and compliance record. The financial advisor does not pay a fee to be considered for or to receive this award. Once awarded, they may opt to purchase additional profile advertising space or related award promotional products. This survey is created, conducted and administered by Financial Times. This award does not evaluate the quality of services provided to clients. The financial advisor receiving this award may have had unfavorable ratings. This award and rating is not indicative of this financial advisor's future performance.
