The annual WAFA Gail Winslow Award recognizes women who demonstrate exemplary efforts to help attract, support and retain women clients and financial advisors. The award was established in honor of Gail Winslow, a financial advisor who was a trailblazer with 60 years in the financial services industry. She led many financial advisors and clients to paths of opportunity and success through her motto of “clients come first.” Gail’s motto provided a focus that she readily shared, along with her disciplined approach to adhering to goals, educating clients and making a positive impact in the community.

Please join us in congratulating Maureen on this noteworthy honor.
